

Have you ever done something that you believed was the right thing to do, even though those around you told you it wasn't?

What happened?

