THE Mizzy MYSTERIES

A SKELETON IN THE CLOSET

TEACHING RESOURCE

The Mizzy Mysteries is a lively and thought-provoking read that centres around a child passionate about uncovering mysteries and their determination to expose long held family secrets. The main character has Down syndrome, which is tenderly portrayed by author Claire Hatcher-Smith, and based on her many years of work supporting those with Down syndrome. Central to the story are themes of empathy, avoiding stereotypes to look more closely at other people, and believing in yourself, despite being underestimated by those around you. Alongside the important disability representation, it is an engaging book that can be used to support Maths, English, Relationship Education and Health Education in KS2 & KS3.

Word of the Chapter - For each chapter there is a word of interest selected from the text. These can be used in a variety of ways -

- Discussion of the word meanings.
- Prompts for looking up in dictionaries independently.
- As writing prompts to embed with the correct context within sentences.

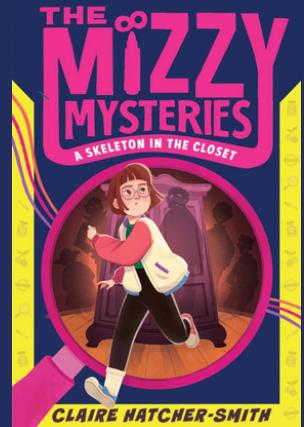

Discussion Prompt - Each chapter also features a question to discuss. They range from discussing the characters and predictions for the book to reflecting on the situations presented. Many of these questions are specifically worded to tie in with the KS2 & KS3 National Curriculum.

Activity Ideas - There are a selection of activity ideas that link in with the text, they're numbered by the page that they tie in with and can be found below the chapter breakdown. There's a mix of STEM prompts, art ideas, opportunities for further research and more - all linking in with the National Curriculum.

ACTIVITY IDEAS

Page 8 - Writing Prompt

Write one of Great Aunt Jane's missing diary entries.

Auntie G often reads Flower Fairy Poetry to Mizzy. Read the poem mentioned (Blackberry Fairy) and write your own poem to describe a plant of your choice.

Page 79 - Art Prompt

Create a self portrait of yourself at 3 different stages of your life, extending both into the past and the future. You may wish to extend this further with one of the below options -

- Include reference to the disabled self portrait artist, Frida Kahlo.
- Use alongside lessons on puberty to depict how bodies change through adolescence.

Page 123 - Fill Your Cup Activity

Uncle Lionel is passionate about Tea, but what fills your metaphorical cup up? Invite children to write or draw in an image of a cup what supports them to feel well in their day to day life, consider mentally, physically and in relationships.

Page 144 - Maths Challenge

With reference to a map of the London Underground, pick a selection of the lines and create a graph that compares the number of stops on each line. This could further be linked in with geography discussing why the stops are arranged in this way to support the human landscape.

When Mizzy hides under the blanket she observes that not much light can be seen through the material. Explore the transparency of different materials and group together into categories of opaque, transparent and translucent.

Create designs of how you could make a tube station more accessible to people with disabilities. Remember that all people's experience of disability is different and that not all disabilities are visible.
